ALLEGED FORGERY AND FRAUD.

At the Magistracy to-day, before Mr. W. C. H. Bank, in charge of the draft department, stated that yesterday afternoon, about four o'clock, one of the Bank assistants brought to him the document in court, which had been tendered for payment. It purported to be a bill of exchange numbered 241, but on referring to the register witness found that No. 241 had been paid. Then on closer examination he found that the figures had been altered, and had originally been 141; and the register showed No. 141 had been paid on the same day of last year. The date on the bl now precented had also been altered from 30th September, 1892 to 1893. He had said that it contained articles which the wealth of the Indies would not tempt him to part with; and the lady was content to wait-and to watch. The critical moment came; in ten minutes the anchor would be up and the passage, which had been arranged, would go for nothing. His room was on the top story of a very much storied house and his window looked over a lane. Why will the Devil tempt? As well ask why this muchtravelled mariner quietly dropped his bag into the lane below (fully a hundred fest) and bracing himself up to take an affectionate farewell of the land-lady, requested her by all the sacred ties of purest sentiment to take care of his bag until he could redeem it-a matter of a week or two. There was no resisting the eloquence and impressiveness of his deeply affected manner, and the lady swore that henceforth that bag would be the lewel of her crow-pledges. A form of farewell which wrenched the fibres of each to the very core, was gone through and the captain was sone. Rumours relative to Rajah Brooke making a "move" to get control of the whole country are now in circulation here, and it is believed that there is more than the proverbial grain of truth in the report. The present is certainly the time for a coup of this sert. Such an opportunity may never occur again; and if the production of coffee, Manila Lemp and sugar are taken in hand on a large scale and persevered in in a practical manner, such a condition of prosperity would soon ensue as would fully compensate North Borneo shareholders for their spell of waiting for "divis."

One of the Singapore dailies recently published a letter over the nom de plume "A Planter" setting forth that injustice had been the lot of a litigant in our local Law Court. As the writer wrote warmly on the subject, as though smarting under the sense of some great wrong done to him. I made inquiries into the matter, which resulted in the discovery that the case in question occupied the attention of the judge about three years ago, and that the Court, in calling for evidence to substantiate some statement that had been made, was acting in strict accordance with the prescribed roles. Finally, when I discovered that the Chairman who was represented as having been anxious to quit Borneo in a hurry, shaking the dust of this fair isle from his feet as he did so. continues to rake in the shekels here as of vorc. and wheaspoken to about "Planter's" letter smiles in a. way that is "childlike and bland," I concluded that further investigation into the matter would he a mere waste of valuable time.

We are indebted to the Tacoma . News for a little interesting criticism of ourselves and our esteemed contemporaries. The News starts out with a remark which displays an originality only equalled by its veracity-"Different styles of journalism prevail all over the world "; which sage utterance reminds one of the equally undenlable fact that "It takes all sorts to make a world "-and this is one sort ! " This re flection (says the News) arises from looking over a file of Chinese and East Indian papers brought to making 54 but being disqualified. The Cup | the News by the last China steamer. The critic also takes libertles with the Hongkong climate in the most aggressive manner thus :-

"The same issue, in speaking of the Hougkons Hotel, says: "The bedrooms, with adjoining bath rooms, are lofty and well ventil ated and open on to spacious verandahs, are lighted by gas and fitted throughout with electric communicators.' Now why should bath rooms opera on verandahs? It may be possible that in tropical countries people like to vary the bath by a verandah promenade, but the climate of Hongkoog is not fitted for such divertisement." Well, he seems to know. Wonder if he ever saw any place outside of "Tacoma, Wash. ?" Wonder if he knows what a bath-room is? The Tacoma News man should come over here and finn the " Job Lots" needed for recalcitrant prisoners.

A change to the workshops, where all is life and activity, is perhaps desirable. It is good in any case to get away from a place which has so many morbid associations. The prisoners follow a variety of avocations in these shops; everyone has something to do, and is forced to keep on doing it actively. They make mats from raw coir yarn, weaving them in great antique wooden looms such as our ancestors used; they plait signet, and the sailor-men, handy with the palm sprears, buy them, stain them green, and use them to simulate real grass, in the vain hope of persuading a sceptical public that the photos are really taken in the open air, amidst wavy meadows and beautiful natural surroundings. There are long rolls of coly matting, also stained green, used by cricketers in a like attempt to lmitate natural turf. Altogether about 90 men are kept at work in the mat shops, the trade being one easy to learn and anitable to prisoners who have not been brought up to any special handicraft. Every man has to turn out a fixed quota of work; if he can do more he gets extra pay up to a maximum of ninepence a week. Besides this he has a gratuity of threepence a week for hard labour, so that it is possible for a diligent prisoner to earn one shilling a week towards his
